

Hannu and Laura's shared journey in ministry has taken them to four continents and hundreds of major cities.

Their Miracle Is Your Love

After five decades, Hannu Haukka still speaks with the same passion for taking the Gospel wherever God calls. Alongside that passion is Laura Haukka's deep gratitude: this journey has not been made in their own strength or alone. God has carried them, and faithful friends have stood alongside them through prayer and financial support.

Hannu and his wife Laura's shared journey in ministry has taken them to four continents and hundreds of major cities. Their journey over the years has not been without challenges, but along the way they have witnessed God's remarkable miracles. They have given their lives to this calling.

At GCMM's 50th Anniversary Celebration, Hannu recalled the incredible breakthrough: the Soviet Union's state television channel opened its doors to the Gospel. In just 30 days, more than one million letters poured in from viewers—a powerful confirmation that the message was reaching hearts and that God was leading the ministry forward.

A joyful gathering of friends and supporters celebrating 50 years of God's faithfulness.

For Hannu, the story of this ministry is, above all, a testimony to God's great faithfulness. The mission belongs to God; we are simply His messengers. The same God who has carried us this far will carry us into the future.

Methods of media communication have changed over the decades, but the mission remains the same: the Gospel must be heard even across closed borders, and where Christian ministry is restricted. At the heart of the message is a life-changing promise: God's grace and forgiveness are for everyone, regardless of their past.

As we share the Gospel, God's love also takes practical form through humanitarian aid, calling us to respond to people in times of crisis.

We look back with gratitude, but we also look forward with purpose. There are still people who have yet to hear about Jesus—and that is why the work continues.

A long-time supporter captured the essence of supporters standing behind the ministry. More than 20 years ago, Hannu spoke words that touched her heart: "Your love is their miracle". Those words inspired her to become a regular supporter of GCMM. Since then, she and her sister have faithfully supported the ministry through financial giving, prayer, and practical service.

→

We were reminded that God has given every supporter a vital role in this shared mission. Through our prayers and giving, we help carry the Gospel to people we may not meet until heaven.

Hannu and Laura express their heartfelt gratitude to everyone who has given according to their ability. Some have stood with the ministry for decades, while others have joined more recently, but every prayer, every gift, and every act of support is deeply valued.

Hannu says he wishes he could embrace each supporter and thank them personally. Words alone seem inadequate to express his gratitude. Looking back over the years, he has seen and experienced firsthand the power of intercessory prayer and the difference it has made in the ministry.

Fifty years of ministry gives us every reason to bow our heads in gratitude. Yet the mission is unfinished and calls us to lift our eyes once again to Christ. Thank you for continuing to walk alongside us, so that many more may hear that they are loved by God.

GCMM's Israel/Jewish Ministry Update

Recovery From Trauma Book Brings Hope to Those Wounded by War in Israel

The trauma book for Israel brings together personal stories of people who have faced deep pain and loss, offering hope and encouragement to others as they navigate their own trauma. Daniel's story is one example of why this resource is so urgently needed. Prayer and financial support will help bring the book to completion and place it in the hands of those who need it most.

Daniel was attending the Supernova music festival with his girlfriend when Hamas attacked the area on October 7, 2023. He hid in a shallow depression in the ground and remained there throughout the day until Israeli forces arrived.

He had lost contact with his parents. They lived in the nearby kibbutz of Nahal Oz, which the attackers had entered, and Daniel believed they were dead. He later learned that the attackers had reached his family's home, but everyone had survived.

In the days that followed, Daniel attended the funerals of many close friends. He had escaped with his life, but the experience left him deeply traumatized. Yet in the midst of it all, he felt that the God his mother had spoken about since his childhood had protected his life as he lay hidden in the ground.

Stories That Can Help Others Who Are Suffering

For the trauma book, we are seeking personal stories that will speak to the hearts of readers and offer hope and encouragement as they face their own pain. Please pray with us for wisdom as we choose which stories to share. Your gift can also help bring this important resource to completion and into the hands of those who need it.

Photo: Ohad Zwigenberg / AP. In the background are photographs of those who were killed or taken hostage in the attack.

Pain does not end when the news moves on to another story. Thank you for continuing to remember in prayer those who continue to live with trauma and for helping bring them a message of comfort and hope.

Ministry in Nepal

Every Child Should Hear About Jesus

After several years, a new opportunity has opened for us to bring the message of Jesus to Maithili-speaking children in Nepal—the message that He knows them by name and loves them.

GCMM's Maithili-language version of Superbook brings the stories of the Bible to children in the language they know best. But producing the program is only the first step—the message must also be made accessible to the children it was created to reach.

That is where faithful partners play an important role. Through prayer and financial support, they help open the way for these programs to reach children and families. Now, a significant new opportunity has opened through a partnership with a local television station, bringing Superbook within reach of even more children.

GCMM Slavic Ministry

The Gospel Knows No Borders

The wounds of war do not disappear with a peace agreement. In the midst of fear and loss, people need the message of hope that God has not forgotten them.

GCMM continues to produce Russian- and Ukrainian-language programming. Through media, the Gospel can reach people in their own language, including in places where church activities are restricted and personal access is impossible.

The next major Mega City Media Campaign is being prepared for Moldova, where people are asking: Is there still hope for us? In Jesus, the answer is always yes!

GCMM Middle East Ministry

Ethiopia Mega City Media Campaign — So That More People May Hear About Jesus

Jesus' Great Commission calls us especially to those who do not yet know Him.

In Ethiopia, GCMM is preparing a Mega City Media Campaign for 2027. Centred in Addis Ababa, the campaign is being developed together with local churches and Christian partners. At the heart of the mission are people who have yet to hear the message of Jesus' love.

Campaign materials are being prepared in Amharic, Oromo, Tigrinya, and Somali. Hearing the Gospel in one's own language brings the message close to the heart. Local churches are preparing to meet those who respond through the media, to support and disciple them.

We invite you to be part of this evangelism campaign. Preparations are already underway, and we need your prayers as well as financial support for content production and practical arrangements.

Your prayers and gifts help us reach people who have not yet heard about Jesus. Together, let's make this Mega City Media Campaign possible once again!

Responses from Egypt Continue

A year ago, the Egypt Mega City Media Campaign reached millions of people. Even now, the follow-up team continues to receive thousands of messages from people wanting to know more about Jesus and the Christian faith.

This spiritual hunger encourages us as we prepare for the Ethiopia campaign: the impact of a campaign can continue bearing fruit long after it ends.

Please pray with us for wisdom, strength, the necessary resources, and the Lord's guidance as we seek to reach those who do not yet know Him.

The campaign message reached more than six million people in Egypt, and responses indicate that thousands have come to faith. Egyptians have spent a combined 45,600 hours watching stories about the power of God.